Pivot Aide Tax

Service architecture & the Uncle Ed brand system

A four-layer offering model for pivotaidetax.com built on one positioning: Uncle Sam handles compliance, Uncle Ed handles strategy. Year-round planning as the spine, filing in all fifty states as the door, and a resolution division for taxpayers who already have a problem.

BRAND CHARACTER

Uncle Ed · owl · strategy, to Uncle Sam's compliance

GATING DECISION

Circular 230 credential for the representation tiers · see Exh. L

Read end to end on 31 August 2026. It is clean, it loads well, and it sells compliance — filing, once a year — while the firm’s actual advantage is year-round strategy across all fifty states. Six specific things are also costing money.

01

Two business tiers, one price

Business and Business Pro are both listed at $550. A visitor reads that as an error, and the error sits directly beneath the promise upfront pricing — no surprises. Separately, $550 for a 1065 or 1120-S is well under the DMV market for the same return.

02

Copy leaked between pages

Step one on the Tax Services page reads “Speak with our team about your payroll needs.” It was pasted from the Payroll page. It is the first sentence a tax prospect reads.

03

Audit support is a bullet

“Small Business IRS Audit Support” is the third item in a list on one page. There is no audit page, no tiers, no mention of state agencies, and nothing at all for the taxpayer who already owes, already has a lien, or has not filed in four years. This is the highest-margin and least seasonal work available, and the site hides it.

04

Nothing is free, so nobody leaves a name

The cheapest action on the site is $200. A visitor who is researching, comparing, or simply frightened by a letter has no way to engage and no reason to give an email address.

05

Nothing to buy above a return

The ceiling on the site is $550. There is no projection, no mid-year work, no entity or election advice, no retainer — nothing at all for the owner who wants the tax bill managed rather than reported. The firm’s highest-value service is the one a visitor cannot find.

06

The pricing promise is only half kept

The home page leads with transparent pricing. The Bookkeeping and Payroll pages carry no figure at all — both say “personalised quote on your first call.” A visitor who came for the first claim and meets the second on the next click stops trusting either one.

FIX BEFORE ANYTHING ELSE

Items 01 and 02 are ten minutes of work in Elementor and are costing credibility on every visit. They should not wait for the rebuild.

A practice that sells only returns earns most of its year in fourteen weeks, and can only report a number someone else's decisions already set. Every layer below exists to move a client toward year-round planning — and each is priced, staffed and written differently.

LAYER 0 • FREE

Complimentary

Exh. E

Costs little, qualifies everyone, and gives a frightened or undecided visitor something to do today. Every free item has one named paid destination.

LAYER 1 • FRONT
ENDThe storefront

$100 – $1,250

per return • Exh. C

Priced, transactional, self-serve, seasonal. Individual and business returns, extensions, prior years, amendments. This is the door — not the business.

LAYER 2 • BACK
ENDThe recurring book

$125 – $1,200

per month • Exh. D

Monthly, relational, invisible to a first-time visitor. Bookkeeping, payroll, sales tax, quarterly estimates, planning retainer. Where the practice actually becomes a business.

LAYER 3 •
ADVANCEDStrategy & owner advisory

$1,000 – $5,000+

or annual • Exh. F

Project-priced, or packaged annually as The Standing File — the flagship engagement for high-income individuals and business owners: dedicated advisor, quarterly counsel, all returns and notices inside the fee, quoted after a scoping call.

CROSS-CUTTING

Audit & resolution

$450 – quoted

per matter • Exh. G-H

Enters at any layer and has its own economics: urgent, unshoppable, and unseasonal. Uncle Ed's division.

THE ONE NUMBER THAT MATTERS

A $450 individual filer is worth $450 once a year. The same person on a bookkeeping plan with the entity return attached is worth several thousand and does not shop in January. The whole architecture is built to make that second sentence easy to reach.

Every price visible, every boundary stated. A tier the visitor can self-select into, and one path — QuickPrepare — for everyone who cannot.

INDIVIDUAL RETURNS • FORM 1040

Simple	Up to two W-2s, standard deduction, one state. Refund tracking to IRS acceptance.	$200
Standard	Multiple W-2s, itemized deductions (Sch. A), dependents and credits, one state.	$350
Premium	1099 and investment income, Sch. B and D, one rental (Sch. E), HSA, education credits.	$450
Self-Employed	Schedule C, home office, vehicle, depreciation, SE tax, and next year's quarterly estimates set up.	$550 NEW TIER

BUSINESS RETURNS • 1065 / 1120-S / 1120

Business	Single-owner or up to three K-1s, one state, books delivered reconciled.	$750 WAS $550
Business Pro	Multi-member, multi-state apportionment, foreign income and FBAR, virtual currency, fixed-asset schedules, more than three K-1s.	$1,250 WAS $550

ADD-ONS

Extension	Filed same day. Credited in full against the return when the return is filed with us.	$100
Additional state	Per state, per year.	$75
Prior-year return	Priced at its own tier, per year. See also Exh. H, Tier 4.	tier
Amended • 1040-X	Waived where the error was ours.	$250
In-season rush	Completed inside 72 hours, February through April.	$150

QUICKPREPARE STAYS — AND MOVES TO THE FRONT

$200 to start, credited against the final invoice. It is the best mechanism on the current site and it is buried three clicks deep. It should be the default call to action for every visitor who does not immediately recognise their own tier, which is most of them.

Priced on volume, never on hours. The bookkeeping and payroll pages currently carry no price at all, which contradicts the promise made on the home page.

MONTHLY BOOKKEEPING • TIERED BY EXPENSE VOLUME

Ledger	Up to 2 accounts, under $25K monthly expenses. Monthly P&L and balance sheet.	$350 PER MONTH
Ledger Plus	Up to 5 accounts, under $75K monthly. AP and AR tracking, full monthly close package.	$650 PER MONTH
Controller	Unlimited accounts, class and department tracking, cash forecast, monthly review call.	$1,200 PER MONTH

COMPLIANCE OPERATIONS

Payroll	Base plus $12 per employee per month. Filings, W-2 and 1099 year-end, new-hire reporting. Add $50 per additional state.	$125 + PER HEAD
Sales & use tax	Per state. Nexus monitoring, return filing, remittance calendar.	$150 PER MONTH
Quarterly estimates	Four recalculations a year, vouchers issued, safe-harbour tracking. Ends the April surprise.	$600 PER YEAR
Catch-up books	Per month of books reconstructed, three-month minimum. Priced per month cleaned, not per project.	$400 PER MONTH
Planning retainer	Mid-year projection, entity and compensation review, one strategy session each quarter, unlimited notice review.	$250 PER MONTH

THE CONVERSION MECHANISM

Any client on a bookkeeping plan gets the entity return at half price. That single line is what turns a $750 once-a-year filer into a $4,500-a-year client, and it costs nothing to offer because the books arrive clean. Put it on the pricing page, not in the fine print.

Eight give-aways, each with one named paid destination. A free service without a next step is not marketing; it is cost.

FREE SERVICE	WHAT IT IS	CONVERTS TO
Second Look	Free review of the last three filed returns. Missed credits, wrong filing status, unclaimed depreciation.	Amended returns, next year's filing
Notice Triage	Send the IRS or state letter. Plain-English read inside two business days: what it is, what it wants, what it costs to fix.	Resolution tiers 1–4
Consultation	One hour, no charge. Already offered — keep it and make it findable.	Everything
Withholding Checkup	W-4 tuned so the client stops lending the government money or owing every April.	Planning retainer, referrals
Entity Fit Check	Should you be an S-corp yet? One page, with the actual breakeven number for their income.	S-corp package, bookkeeping
Trade checklists	Deduction checklists by trade — realtor, contractor, trucker, home-care agency, salon, rideshare.	Email capture, Sch. C returns
Ask Uncle Ed	One tax question a month, answered, for anyone on a paid plan.	Retention
Document vault	Secure portal and permanent archive. Returns stay reachable after the engagement ends.	Switching cost

CAP THEM OR THEY EAT THE PRACTICE

Second Look is three returns, once. Notice Triage is one letter per household. Both are stated on the page in plain language, not hidden in terms — the limit is part of the offer's credibility, not a catch.

WHY SECOND LOOK LEADS

It is the only offer on this list a competitor charges for, it produces billable amended returns on its own, and it puts three years of a stranger's tax history in front of us before we quote anything else.

WHAT THEY COST TO DELIVER

Six of the eight are a template and twenty minutes. Second Look and Notice Triage take real review time — which is exactly why the caps above are printed on the page rather than discovered later.

Sold off a conversation, never off a table. The prices below are anchors for the site, quoted properly after scoping.

STRUCTURE & COMPENSATION

S-corp election	Form 2553, reasonable-compensation benchmark memo, payroll set-up, accountable plan adopted.	$1,500
Owner comp plan	Salary and distribution split, basis tracking, loan versus distribution treatment.	$1,200
Entity structure	Holding company, related-party flows, multi-entity design, state footprint.	$3,500+
Retirement design	Solo 401(k), SEP, SIMPLE; cash-balance modelling for high earners.	$1,500

PLANNING & POSITIONS

Annual strategy plan	Written, quantified, with a projected saving and an implementation calendar the client can hold you to.	$2,500+
Multi-state nexus	Economic nexus review, apportionment, registration and unwind plan.	$2,000
Depreciation strategy	Bonus versus §179, cost-recovery timing across the fixed asset register.	$1,000

CREDITS & EXAM READINESS

Exam readiness	Pre-examination review of positions, substantiation and records, before anyone is looking.	$2,500
Cost segregation	Real estate. Pivot Aide Tax manages the specialist study and books the result on the return.	quoted
R&D credit	Qualification review, study coordination, and the credit claimed and defended.	quoted

THE STANDING FILE — THE PACKAGED FORM OF THIS PAGE

Everything above is also sold as one annual engagement: The Standing File. A named advisor, four scheduled strategy sessions, a written plan, a mid-year projection, unlimited questions, and every return, estimate and notice inside the fee. Two tracks — high-income individuals, and business owners. No price is published; it is quoted after a free scoping call and a Second Look at three prior returns.

For the taxpayer who already has a problem. Urgent, unshoppable, unseasonal — and currently one bullet on one page.

Notice response · $450 per notice

CP2000, CP14, CP501/503/504, LT11, and the state equivalents. We read it, check whether the agency is actually right — often it is not — draft and file the response, and track it to closure. Most letters resolve here and never become anything larger.

02

Examination representation · from $2,500

Form 2848 power of attorney. Correspondence, office, or field examination. We deal with the examiner; the client does not attend. Document production, responses to information requests, written position memos, and appeal where the position is worth defending.

Collections & resolution · from $1,500

Balances owed, liens, levies, wage garnishment. Transcript analysis first, always. Then installment agreement, currently-not-collectible status, penalty abatement on first-time or reasonable-cause grounds, or an offer in compromise where the taxpayer genuinely qualifies.

04

Back years & non-filers · $350 per year + $500 reconstruction

Three to ten unfiled years. Wage-and-income transcript pulls, reversal of substitute-for-return assessments, records reconstruction, and compliance restored so the client can borrow, bid, or sleep again.

AUDIT SHIELD · $75 A YEAR, OFFERED ON EVERY RETURN

If a return we prepared is examined, Tier 1 and Tier 2 representation on that return is included. It turns a seasonal filer into an annual subscriber and makes the division profitable before a single client is ever audited.

HOW THESE PAGES MUST READ

- One phone number and one upload box above the fold
- The deadline on the letter named, not implied
- Response time stated: we read it within two business days
- No countdown timers, no red banners, no fear

WHY THIS WORK IS WORTH BUILDING

- Demand is unseasonal — letters arrive all twelve months
- The buyer is not comparing three quotes
- It converts to bookkeeping more reliably than filing does
- It is the one thing on the site nobody local is claiming

Pivot Aide files in all fifty states, so the resolution desk has to work all fifty. Almost every national tax-relief marketer is federal-only; owning the state side — with the deepest bench in the DMV — is real and defensible.

STATE DESK • ALL FIFTY STATES

- Any state department of revenue or taxation
- Deep bench: Maryland Comptroller, Virginia Dept. of Taxation, DC OTR
- Multi-state assessments and apportionment disputes
- Sales and use tax audits
- Withholding and employer assessments
- Economic nexus assessments for remote sellers
- State liens, levies and payment plans

SPECIALTY MATTERS

- Innocent spouse and injured spouse relief
- Identity-theft returns and IP PIN recovery
- Employee Retention Credit examinations
- Worker classification — 1099 versus W-2
- Trust fund recovery penalty defence
- First-time and reasonable-cause abatement
- Transcript analysis and account reconstruction

COMPLIANCE GUARDRAILS — NON-NEGOTIABLE ON THESE PAGES

1. Credential. Practice before the IRS is restricted under Circular 230 to attorneys, CPAs and Enrolled Agents. An unenrolled preparer with an AFSP record of completion may represent a taxpayer only on a return they themselves prepared, and only at examination level. Confirm which credential covers Tiers 2 and 3, and whose name signs the Form 2848, before a word of this section is published.

2. No outcome language. No “pennies on the dollar,” no “we reduce your debt,” no dollar or percentage claims, no testimonials implying a typical result. The FTC and multiple state attorneys general have taken action against tax-relief firms for exactly this wording.

3. State eligibility plainly. Every resolution page carries one sentence: outcomes depend on the taxpayer’s financial circumstances and on the agency’s determination.

Everybody's got an Uncle Sam. Not everybody's got an Uncle Ed.

Uncle Ed is an owl, and he has been doing this a long time. He has seen every letter the agency sends and he is not impressed by any of them. He is the relative you call before you call a lawyer — the one who reads the notice, puts it down, and says "okay, here's what this actually is."

Why an owl. Owls see in the dark, hear what is hidden, and hunt without making a sound. That is the job — find what is buried in a return, spot the risk before the agency does, and handle it quietly. An owl is also the only bird nobody has ever accused of being loud about it.

THE FIVE VOICE RULES

- 01 Calm first. Uncle Ed never panics and never makes the reader panic. Fear is the competition's instrument, not ours.
- 02 Plain words. "The IRS thinks you left off $8,400 of income" — never "CP2000 underreporter inquiry."
- 03 Short sentences. He is talking, not filing a brief.
- 04 Honest about bad news. If the client owes it, he says so. Credibility is the entire asset.
- 05 Dry, never jokey. One wry beat per page at most. He is warm. He is not the comic relief.

WHAT UNCLE ED IS FOR

A tax site sells one thing, and it is not price. It is the feeling that somebody competent is going to handle this. Uncle Ed exists because that feeling is very hard to write in the abstract and very easy to give a face. He is not a mascot bolted onto the brand — he is the argument the brand is making, standing where the visitor can see him.

HE SAYS

- “Uncle Sam isn’t the enemy. He’s just very organised. So are we.”
- “That letter has a deadline on it. Send it over. We’ll read it today.”
- “He gets exactly what he’s owed. Not a dollar more.”
- “Most of these letters are wrong about something. Let’s find out which part.”
- “Four years unfilled. That’s fixable. It’s happened before.”

HE NEVER SAYS

- “Beat the IRS” or “fight the government”
- Anything about pennies on the dollar
- Anything a tax protester would nod along to
- A promised outcome, figure, or percentage
- A joke at a frightened person’s expense

THE GUARDRAIL THAT MATTERS MOST

Uncle Ed defends against the letter, never against the government. The moment the character reads as anti-IRS, it attracts clients no firm wants and creates real professional exposure. No flags, no eagles, no Uncle-Sam-in-a-top-hat caricature, nothing that reads as political. The frame is always: the agency is entitled to what it is owed, and our job is to make sure the number is right and the taxpayer is treated correctly.

VISUAL DIRECTION

- Great horned owl, front-facing, charcoal jacket
- Eyes in brand blue #019FFF — the only saturated colour on him
- Flat vector, two or three tones, no gradients
- No cartoon smile, no oversized pupils
- Must read at 40px as a favicon and 400px as a hero
- Poses: neutral portrait · arms folded · holding a letter · at a checklist · asleep on a clean ledger

WHERE HE APPEARS — AND DOES NOT

- Yes: hero, every resolution page, Notice Triage, Ask Uncle Ed, 404, email signature, section marks
- No: pricing tables, legal pages, the intake and upload flow
- He is the greeter and the defender. He is not the paperwork.
- Not a product tier name. Not a chatbot. If everything is Uncle Ed, nothing is.

Sixteen pages become seven destinations. Four of them are new, and three of those four carry work the current site cannot sell at all.

WHY THESE TWO GO TOP-LEVEL

Audit & Resolution because it is the least seasonal and least price-sensitive work on the list, and a person holding a letter will not find it three clicks deep. Free Help because nothing on the site currently costs nothing, so no visitor who is not ready to buy ever leaves a name.

Four decisions are yours. One of them gates an entire section and should be settled first.

01

Which Circular 230 credential covers representation

Attorney, CPA, or Enrolled Agent — and whose name signs the Form 2848. Tiers 2 and 3 of Exh. G cannot be published until this is answered. Note that the EA programme already in development under the Pivot Aide brand is the natural in-house answer.

02

Confirm the corrected price ladder

Particularly the business return moving from $550 to $750 and $1,250. This is the single highest-leverage change on the site and the one most likely to feel uncomfortable.

03

Commission the Uncle Ed artwork

Five poses to the direction in Exh. J. Until it exists the pages ship with a placeholder mark; the copy does not depend on the art.

04

Confirm the legal standing of Pivot Aide Tax

The brands now present as separate firms. If Pivot Aide Tax is an assumed name of Pivot Aide Consulting rather than its own registered entity, the legal name still has to appear somewhere a client can find it — normally the terms, payment policy and engagement letter rather than the marketing footer. Confirm which it is before publishing.

BUILD ORDER

Today — fix the duplicate $550 and the payroll sentence. Week 1 — publish Audit & Resolution once the credential is confirmed. Week 2 — Free Help, led by Second Look. Week 3 — Uncle Ed artwork and the new hero. Week 4 — Advanced Advisory, once the entity question is settled.
